

HUGHES TALKS TO TRAFFIC CLUB

Governor of New York Made Guest of Honor at Dinner.

REGULATION OF RAILWAYS

PEOPLE DETERMINED, BUT JUSTICE WILL BE DONE.

New York, March 6.—That the people are determined that there shall be adequate regulation of the railroads, but that they are sincere in their avowed wish that such regulation shall be just, was the belief expressed by Governor Charles E. Hughes in an address before the Traffic club tonight. The governor was a guest at the dinner of the club, which also entertained the heads and other officials of many railroad corporations.

The governor's conviction that there was an urgent necessity of first arriving at the concrete facts of the situation and finding out just what was wanted before any attempt was made to regulate, was made plain at the dinner. The New York public service commission was used as an illustration of the proper machinery for getting the traffic system and the people who patronized it into touch with each other for their mutual interest.

Cheers for the Governor.

Governor Hughes was introduced by General Passenger Agent George A. Cullen of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, as "the man who does big things." This reference pleased the fancy of the diners, who cheered as the governor responded.

Governor Hughes said, in part: "There is not the slightest question that the great American people are interested in their railroads and want to see them developed and extended and every possible means adopted to bring them up to the maximum of service. "Now, in order that the problems of this day may be solved, there must be honest co-operation; there must be co-operation in a necessary effort to have everything that people really desire it to be; and that is right, and as you go up and down this country and you meet the average American citizen, in whatever organization or occupation you may find him, and you come to close quarters with him and try to understand what he really wants, ninety times out of a hundred you will find he only wants what is right."

Railroading a Public Business.

The governor said that railroad men must recognize the indisputable fact that the people had determined that railroading was a public business, and that it was to be regulated in the interests of the public. Whether this regulation came in the right way would depend, he said, upon the sincerity and intelligence of the methods used to deal with these things in a sensible and fair way that all rights may be safeguarded with reference to all parties concerned. The proper machinery should be provided so that anyone who thinks any particular thing is not right will have a place to go where his views will be heard and honestly passed upon.

NOTED WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Campbell Thompson, Daughter of Founder of Campbellite Church, Dead at Washington.

Washington, March 6.—Mrs. Campbell Thompson, a daughter of Rev. Alexander Campbell, who founded the Christian, or Campbellite church, died here today. For thirteen years Mrs. Thompson was postmistress at Louisville, Ky. Her successful campaign for reappointment are still remembered by those who were conversant with the doings of public life during the presidential terms of Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland and Harrison.

Mrs. Thompson was born at Bethany, W. Va. She was married to William R. Thompson of Kentucky. After he died in 1877 she journeyed to Washington with her young children and asked President Hayes for the appointment of postmistress at Louisville. Although her selection was bitterly fought by Kentucky politicians, she received the appointment. President Arthur reappointed her, as did President Cleveland. There were over eighty thousand letters on file requesting the reappointment of Mrs. Thompson when President Harrison entered the White house. The determined opposition of Postmaster General Wanamaker kept her from serving a fourth term.

Mrs. Thompson of late years had been employed in the congressional library.

WILL SUPPLY OWN LIGHT

M. S. and John Browning Buy Willard Canyon Water Rights and Will Generate Electricity.

During the past few days a deal has been consummated whereby Matthew S. Browning and his brother, John Browning, the inventor, have acquired the ownership of virtually all the water rights of Willard creek in Willard canyon, sixteen miles north of here. The purpose is said to be to erect a power plant to furnish electric lights for the business block in Ogden bounded by Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets and Washington and Grant avenues.

M. S. Browning, together with Engineer W. M. Bostaph, visited the proposed site of the power plant the second time on Thursday. He admitted last night that the deal had been completed and said that work on the plant would be commenced at an early date. The plant, which will be located at the mouth of Willard canyon, and transmission line, will cost approximately $50,000. Mr. Browning further stated that they saw a chance to make a little money and decided to take it up.

It is understood that the transaction carries with it a large portion of the rights of Willard creek, including the purchase made by the city a few months ago, for which $5,000 was paid. It is believed that those back of the new deal think that the fillings of those who sold the power to the city have lapsed, but this is denied by the former owners, who announce that the rights held by the municipality are good until the latter part of April. The Brownings are said to have paid a handsome sum for their acquired rights. It is stated that two men named Nebeker and Bunker, of Willard, filed on the water above that supposed to be owned by Ogden city, and that later a Salt Lake named Clements filed a location covering this part of the stream as well as considerable contained in the city's purchase. The rights of the three persons named are said to have been once purchased by the Brownings. Owing to the complicated condition of the fillings it is possible that some litigation will result.

It is understood that the Browning purchase calls for two second-feet of water and that they expect to generate about 30 horse power. The plant, therefore, will not be as large as that proposed by the city, as the amount of water claimed by the latter is considerably more than this.

POLICEMEN TAKE BATH.

Orin Hadlock and Thomas Loeffer Fall Into Ogden River.

Two members of the local police force got a ducking in the icy waters of the Ogden river yesterday when they came close to proving fatal for one of them.

Officer Orin Hadlock ran on to a gang of alleged tramps and followed them in the hope of learning the whereabouts of their rendezvous. Before the officer overtook his men they crossed a small foot bridge near the Becker brewery. Under this bridge the water is said to be of great depth. Hadlock succeeded, as did the men before him, in getting over the bridge all right. Guard Thomas Loeffer, of the police department, who was wandering along the route taken by Hadlock, saw that the other officer might need aid and he took up the trail also. When "Tommy" reached the center of the foot bridge he made a misstep and was instantly floundering in the cold water. He rapidly drifted down stream.

Officer Hadlock saw the man fall in the river and he hastened to his aid. Before he could do anything toward rescuing him, however, Loeffer succeeded in getting a hold on some willows in the stream. Hadlock stood on the bank and reached out with his club to help his brother officer from the stream. In doing this he, too, slipped and fell into the water. Hadlock was able to crawl out and then aided Loeffer to dry land. The latter was pretty nearly exhausted and was taken to his home.

RAILROAD MEN ARE FINED.

In the police court yesterday Judge J. D. Murphy found Lewis Scudder and W. S. Craven guilty of malicious destruction of property and fined them $50 each. Notice of an appeal was immediately filed.

This matter involves a quarrel between the Ogden Waterworks company and the Union Pacific Railroad company to determine which is entitled to certain water rights in Taylor's canyon, east of this city. The issue was taken to the supreme court some time ago and a decision is expected before the present case goes to trial in the district court.

While in the employ of the railroad company the two defendants are charged with cutting to pieces about forty feet of wooden water pipe situated in Taylor's canyon, and belonging to the water company. This pipe was located a short distance above the intake of the Union Pacific, which secures its water for its independent system in this canyon. It developed during the hearing in the lower court that the pipe was first sawed in about six places, but the leaks were corked, so that it became necessary for the two defendants to chop the pipe to pieces. In this it is claimed, they but obeyed the instructions of their employers. The action was taken to prevent what the railroad people termed an encroachment on patented water rights.

The first complaint charged the defendants with a felony, but by agreement, this was changed to a misdemeanor.

FREEDOM FOR THREE WIVES

Three applications for divorce were filed in the district court yesterday. All were filed by County Attorney N. J. Harris. In the first Clara Campbell asks for separation from Henshild Campbell. She alleges that for more than four years the defendant had failed to provide for her and their three children, of whom she asks the custody.

In the second Annie Hileman seeks a divorce from her husband, John C. Hileman. The grounds alleged in this complaint are similar to those alleged in the foregoing case. Mrs. Hileman sets forth that she is compelled to work for her own living. No children were born to this couple.

In the other complaint Meriah Chatland charges Thomas Chatland with cruelty and in addition to a decree of divorce asks for the custody of their three children. She avers that the defendant is the owner of a house and lot and of considerable money in the bank. He is restrained from disposing of either until there has been a settlement of the action.

SPREAD OF SICKNESS.

Last night's session of the board of education was largely devoted to discussing health conditions. The sanitary committee reported 18 families quarantined on account of contagious diseases. This number includes twenty-three cases of scarlet fever, five of smallpox and three of measles. The number of pupils out of school on this account was given as 100.

Superintendent Allison submitted a tabulated statement showing that on Feb. 7 the number of pupils absent from the schools on account of contagious diseases was 194. The same number was out Feb. 14 and a week later the trouble was increased by 100. The report for the week just closed shows another large increase. The number of cases of scarlet fever is said to be the greatest ever reported to the board. So far but one death has resulted from measles during the present epidemic.

The board elected three new teachers and increased the salaries of several others, who have been advanced to more important positions. A number of bills, including those for the recent bond election, were ordered paid.

Children Tested in Fire Drill.

To test the efficiency of the pupils of the Madison school in their drill work, a surprise test was made yesterday afternoon. The result was that in less than three minutes between 600 and 700 children were marched from the various rooms outside the school building. The order and discipline were perfect.

Superintendent Allison made the test without informing any one connected with the school of his intention. At the sound of the dismissal gong the children began to file out in perfect order to music. The demonstration was entirely satisfactory.

Clearing House Bank Changes.

The Ogden clearing house has decided on a number of changes in charges on checks, collections and papers in escrow, effective March 1.

On exchange, single drafts, not exceeding $100, ten cents is charged, and on lists aggregating more than $100, one-tenth of 1 per cent. The minimum charge on collections is made fifteen cents. For amounts over $500, one-fifth of 1 per cent and under $500 one-fourth of 1 per cent. On checks the charge is made fifteen cents per $100, with a minimum charge of ten cents.

Ogden Briefs.

SALOONS TO SHUT UP.—A report was circulated yesterday that several of the saloons of the city will go out of business as soon as their present licenses expire. The increase in the cost of a license is given as the reason.

BROWNING TO MAKE ADDRESS.—Chief of Police T. E. Browning has been invited to deliver an address before the International Association of Chiefs of Police convention, to be held in Detroit in June next. The chief will accept and will talk on "The Habitual Drunkard, His Care."

WILL BE BURIED HERE.—A telegram was received yesterday from John F. McGovern, brother of the man killed in the Ogden yards, Feb. 29, asking that the body be buried here. Instructions are given that the funeral shall be under the rites of the Catholic church. It will be held some time Sunday at Larkin's funeral chapel.

TRYING TO SAVE ROAD.—Sarah Wheeler and others commenced an action in the district court yesterday against G. J. Kruttsch to compel the defendant to execute a deed for property on Madison avenue, this city, which she claims to have purchased from him April 1, 1901. It is alleged that Kruttsch refused to comply with the deed, and the plaintiffs claim the right to travel. A temporary restraining order has been issued.

WANTS HER DEED.—Mrs. T. Baker filed an action in the district court yesterday against G. J. Kruttsch to compel the defendant to execute a deed for property on Madison avenue, this city, which she claims to have purchased from him April 1, 1901. It is alleged that Kruttsch refused to comply with the deed, and the plaintiffs claim the right to travel. A temporary restraining order has been issued.

GUARDIAN IS NAMED.—Judge J. A. Howell yesterday appointed Franklin D. Richardson guardian ad litem for Lester A. Richardson, a minor. The estate consists of a probable cause for action against John Scowcroft & Sons, of this city, as a result of a broken arm sustained by falling in a hole in the floor of the defendants' building in July, 1907.

ROAD NEEDS TELEGRAPHERS.—G. B. Belver, educational inspector of the Union Pacific, was in Ogden yesterday and inspected the system of teaching telegraphy in the Ogden High school. He stated that the road experienced difficulty in securing competent telegraphers and that he was much interested in the work being done in high schools along these lines.

JURY LOCKED UP.—In the damage case brought by Jane Lowther against Ogden City for damages to property during the floods a year ago, which was given to the jury yesterday afternoon, a failure to reach an agreement was reported late last night by the jury. Judge Howell ordered the jurors locked up until this morning, when they will resume their deliberations.

DETENTION ROOM FOR CHILDREN.—A spacious room in the basement of the city hall has been fitted up for the use of the juvenile court officers for the accommodation of juvenile offenders. Previously boys have been confined with the men prisoners in the city jail and brought in contact with many undesirable persons.

WANT NEVADA INCORPORABLES.—The board of trustees of the state industrial school have decided to address a communication to Governor Sparks of Nevada, inviting him to arrange to send incorrigibles and unfortunate children of that state to Ogden for correction and education. Nevada has no reform school and the opinion of the board is that the Utah school could take care of an extra number.
